

Performance Commentary

Global equities and bond yields were relatively stable in July as the market weighed decent corporate earnings and dovish signals from central banks against continued trade tensions and geopolitical noise. In this volatile and highly uncertain macro environment, SKAGEN Global remains focused on its disciplined bottom-up investment process to provide long-term investors equity exposure to undervalued companies. SKAGEN Global posted another month of relative outperformance versus the index. The fund ended the month ahead of its benchmark as measured year-to-date as well as over 1-year and 3-year periods. The fund's top three absolute performers were Microsoft, Alphabet and Edwards Lifesciences. The fund's bottom three absolute performers were SAP, Unilever and DSV. This short-term performance largely mirrors the market reaction to the respective quarterly earnings reports. We exited the Finnish pulp and paper company UPM due to further deterioration in fundamentals. We also offloaded our few remaining shares in German real estate company Deutsche Wohnen after political interference made the investment case significantly less attractive relative to our global opportunity set. On the buy side, the fund initiated a position in the leading French luxury goods maker LVMH Moët Hennessy – Louis Vuitton. The portfolio remains attractively valued.

The fund selects undervalued companies from around the world, including emerging markets, with attractive risk-reward for long-term investors.

The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return.

The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
