Performance Commentary

Most market indices globally posted a strong rebound during October, in particular the US. Emerging Market equities fell, however, largely due to weakness in Chinese and Taiwanese equities after Xi Jinping's inauguration. SKAGEN Kon-Tiki outperformed its benchmark in October and is ahead of benchmark year to date. Our top contributors were X5, Suzano and Samsung. Russian-listed retailer X5 appreciated due to a fair value adjustment from zero to last price traded. Brazilian pulp producer Suzano delivered better than expected Q3 results on resilient pulp prices and a welcome share buyback program. While Samsung Electronics still faces a challenging market, there are signs that the memory cycle could reach the bottom next year and the company could strengthen its market position during the downturn. Our top detractors were Ping An, Prosus and WH Group, all of which are directly and indirectly exposed to the Chinese market turmoil. Ping An has been weak as Covid restrictions continue to curb activity. Prosus fell on the back of its exposure to Tencent, where investors are increasingly concerned about regulatory risk. We exited two positions in October, namely Mahindra & Mahindra as the share price reached our fair value estimate and Turquoise Hill Resources following Rio Tinto's takeover offer. The portfolio trades on around 5x 2022 earnings and 0.7x price to book; approximately half the valuation of the EM index. We believe that the portfolio offers an attractive risk/reward proposition almost regardless of macro backdrop.

The fund selects low-priced, high-quality companies, mainly in emerging economies. The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return. The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon. Subscriptions are made in fund units and not directly in stocks or other securities. The fund has risk profile 6. The benchmark reflects the fund's investment mandate. Since the fund is actively managed, the portfolio will deviate from the composition of the benchmark.
