Investment strategy

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki is a value-based emerging markets equity fund. It seeks to generate long-term capital growth through an actively managed, high conviction portfolio of companies which are listed in, or have significant exposure to, developing markets. Subscriptions are made in fund units and not directly in stocks or other securities. The benchmark reflects the fund's investment mandate. Since the fund is actively managed, the portfolio will deviate from the composition of the benchmark.

Risk profile (SRI)

We have classified this product as 4 out of 7, which is a medium risk class.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets. A medium risk class rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium level. Other risks materially relevant to the PRIIP not included in the summary risk indicator: Event risk, liquidity risk, operational risk, counterparty risk, derivatives risk and currency risk. If the fund invests in securities in a currency other than the fund's base currency, the value is affected by changes in the exchange rate. In addition, the value of your payout may be affected if your local currency is different from the fund's currency. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

Monthly commentary, November 2025

Global equity markets were flat in November, as sentiment shifted from optimism to scepticism about the future profitability of significant investments in AI infrastructure. Team Kon-Tiki completed a 10-day trip to Asia, meeting companies across the AI supply chain. The massive AI capacity build-out is putting significant pressure on the supply chain as demand remains strong and specification requirements are rising. We remain selective and cautious in our positioning, focused on what we see as under-appreciated opportunities. Emerging Markets underperformed, as large Chinese tech names and semiconductor-heavy Taiwan and Korea gave back some earlier gains.

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki continued to outperform its benchmark, driven by stock-specific factors. The fund's top contributors included Yue Yuen, Hana Financial and Samsonite. Footwear manufacturer Yue Yuen reported slightly better-than-expected operating results. The share price of Korean bank Hana Financial performed well, partly due to market expectations of shareholder-friendly revisions to the Korean dividend tax code. While global travel-luggage retailer Samsonite reported results slightly below expectations, signs of sequential improvement and a positive management outlook supported the share price. Samsung Electronics, Taiwan Semiconductor (TSMC) and Hon Hai declined during the month, largely because the broader semiconductor supply chain drew back. Fundamentally, the companies continued to deliver strong performance. TSMC reported October sales up 23% year on year in USD. Hon Hai reported better-than-expected quarterly results and provided an upbeat outlook for next year.

Portfolio activity remained high as we actively managed positions to optimise risk and reward. We reduced positions in Hon Hai, LG Corp and Cosan. Proceeds and existing cash were used to increase positions in Brazilian underperformers such as Assai, Suzano and Banco do Brasil. We continued to build our positions in Life Insurance Corp of India, leading Philippine conglomerate SM Investments, and Samsonite. We added to our positions in Chinese auto dealership Zhongsheng Group and TSMC on share-price weakness.

New investments were made in Cosmax, Bank of the Philippine Islands, Georgia Capital and JD.com. We reinitiated a position in South Korean cosmetics manufacturer Cosmax after exiting in June at our target price, as the shares have since sold off sharply. Bank of the Philippine Islands is the third-largest bank in the Philippines, founded in 1851 as the first bank in the Philippines and Southeast Asia. The share price has declined this year in line with the Philippine market. In our view, the shares offer exposure to potentially strong compounding returns from the combination of healthy growth, solid returns on equity and a valuation at only 1.3x price-to-book. Georgia Capital is an investment company listed in the UK that invests in and develops businesses in Georgia. Since its establishment as a separate entity, Georgia Capital has delivered NAV per share growth of 18% p.a. in USD, while the share price trades at a price-to-NAV discount of 30%, with the majority of assets listed. We have initiated a position in leading Chinese technology and internet conglomerate JD.com. JD.com's core online retail business earns a healthy operating margin and is conservatively worth more than the current market cap. Furthermore, its holdings in listed subsidiaries and other financial investments are roughly equal to the current market capitalisation. However, current earnings power is vastly underestimated due to significant new-business start-up losses, principally from food delivery. We therefore see significant upside from reducing or eliminating wasteful start-up losses, or from simplifying the group structure. We exited our position in Chinese high-end baijiu producer Wuliangye following very soft quarterly results owing to channel de-stocking, which left us with very limited visibility on a recovery over the next couple of years. We closed our position in Korean bank KB Financial as the share price reached our target.

The portfolio now consists of 49 holdings trading at 9x earnings and 1.1x book value – discounts of 42% and 49%, respectively, to the MSCI Emerging Markets index. We believe this represents an attractive risk /reward profile despite strong year-to-date performance.
