

Performance Commentary

Global equity markets rallied in April with the promise of brighter days ahead and a reopening of the global economy. SKAGEN Vekst generated a solid return in April on the back of more optimistic growth and good company earnings, but lagged its benchmark index slightly for the month. SKAGEN Vekst is well ahead of the index year to date. We saw positive performance from Industrials, with our shipping exposure enjoying good margins from the transportation of raw materials and energy. Our Materials and Healthcare companies also performed well. Negative contribution mainly came from our lower exposure to the IT sector and our investments in financial companies Citigroup and Ping An. We reduced our holding in Holmen in April on the back of strong prices for their forest and wood products. We also trimmed our Kinnevik holding at new highs as the market awaits the distribution of its Zalando holding later this quarter. We added two new positions, one of which is in the newly established long-haul low-cost carrier Norse Atlantic Airways. We also participated in the listing of the Russian integrated timber company, Segezha Group which aims to become a global leader within the packaging and wood products segments. SKAGEN Vekst still sees ample upside in the global economic growth forecast and the potential for strong returns as the world reopens.

The fund selects low-priced, high-quality companies in the Nordic region and from around the world.

The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return.

The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
